

Dear Commissioner Henney,

In a world where we are all exposed to thousands of chemicals in the water we drink, air we breathe, food we eat, the last thing we need is one more.

I am writing in protest of the use of the recombinant Bovine Growth Hormone, or rBGH in dairy cows. It is unnecessary, unhealthy for cows, and humans. Are there any pros? Also, how are we to recognize this exposure when labelling isn't legislated? Please consider adopting clear national guidelines regarding rBGH. Thank you for your time! Anne Frost

99P-4613

C 1184

C 1184

99P-4613

Jane E. Henney
Commissioner, FDA
200 C. St. S.W.
Washington, DC 20201 Hfla

The Lyceum, University of Mississippi, Oxford